My name is Elzbieta Cios-Jonas and I'm a textile and fashion designer. I'm a founder of brand CIOSDESIGN.

I'm searching balance between art and design related to the research for new areas of material exploration. Specialized in experiments and innovations with craft and unique techniques as well digital and new technologies in the fabric design. I'm creating textiles dedicated for fashion sectors, interior design fields and many more. An important achievement in my design is "process of study material combinations". A lot of handmade fabrics is done for the final satisfactory textiles and patterns. Development of uniqueness present a products based on technological experiments and sustainable design. Unconventional material combination showing unlimited possibilities of surprising patterns and colorful compositions.
